was passed with enthusiasm. The recent agitation on the subject has thrown a strong light on many difficulties that need attending to and Government, press, and people seem now determined to spare no effort in the endeavour to maintain Great Britain's supremacy in the high seas.

TEAN PENNY POSTAGE.

LONDON, 19th March.
It is considered that if the Australian colonies brought to contribute with Great Britain the long-agitated penny postal system will speedily become an accomplished fact, England having practically consented to make the experiments.

EIGHT-HOUR DAY IN GOVERNMENT DEPARTMENTS.

LONDON, 24th February.
It was recently decided by the Government to reduce the working day of all employees in the War Department to eight hours. It is now stated that the War Office authorities intend to repeat the less caused by the adoption of the eight-hour day in government departments, and overtime, and the abolition of payment for bank holidays.

LONDON, 8th March.

The eight-hour day of labour recently established by the Government in the various workshops and factories connected with the War Office has given satisfaction to the employer, who has shown a marked increase in output.

A memorandum of the new conditions of employment will be issued by the War Office, and it will be possible to obtain an entirely British table.

LONDON, 13th March.

Messrs. Huddart, Parker's Pacific steamship and service appears to be rapidly growing in popularity.

MISCELLANEOUS ITEMS.

LONDON, 8th February.
Mr. Henry Yates Thompson has offered to contribute a sum of £33,000 for the restoration of a monumental ship in the Old Palace, as an addition to Westminster Abbey.

Bellamy's Greatcoat at Rotherhithe was destroyed by fire last night. The amount of damage done is incalculable, and the cost of repair will be £500.

Carbott's two mills at Bermondsey have been burned down.

LONDON, 27th February.

Captain Brandon of the forces known as Rank's Rangers, who it was reported had taken the Press that did not give him sufficient space to publish his views on frontier questions, has now denied the truth of the published report of the interview with him.

LONDON, 6th March.

The British Government have prohibited an Austrian expedition into the North-Western frontier of India, and Captain Zobovitz, crossing the Soudan frontier, has already returned to Russia to relieve Stachyev and Mr. Haufler, who have been held up by the Mahdists for a number of years.

LONDON, 21st March.

CABLE AND STEAMSHIP COMMUNICATION BETWEEN CANADA AND AUSTRALIA.

LONDON, 23rd February.
Sir Thomas M'Ilwraith, who has just arrived from Canada, gave a relevant interview at Liverpool, and discussed the question of the proposed Pacific cable and the alternative mail routes to the Pacific route. Another subject of discussion was the introduction of an Amending Act, extending the Canadian Pacific Railway, while of the privilege with regard to land-matters conferred upon Australia by the Act of 1873. The opinion was strongly expressed that the proposed extension would not conflict with any of the treaty obligations entered into by Great Britain, nor would it infringe the foreign rights of the Canadian Agents.

Sir Thomas M'Ilwraith, in Sir Charles Turner, Rich Commissioner for Trade, more met and discussed the question of the proposed Pacific cable and the alternative mail routes to the Pacific route. Another subject of discussion was the introduction of an Amending Act, extending the Canadian Pacific Railway, while of the privilege with regard to land-matters conferred upon Australia by the Act of 1873. The opinion was strongly expressed that the proposed extension would not conflict with any of the treaty obligations entered into by Great Britain, nor would it infringe the foreign rights of the Canadian Agents.

LONDON, 14th March.

The death of General Sir George Bulwer, the English General, was announced yesterday at Liverpool, and the family were informed that he had won all the Canadian Ministers. He had subsumed the Pacific cable only in the event of a purely British line being constructed. Sir Thomas said that only a British line was contemplated. This would prevent the extension of the Canadian line from Quebec to Vancouver, he had discussed the matter with the Canadian Government, the American Government, and the Canadian Government, with generally satisfactory results.

LONDON, 15th March.
The British Government have prohibited an Austrian expedition into the North-Western frontier of India, and Captain Zobovitz, crossing the Soudan frontier, has already returned to Russia to relieve Stachyev and Mr. Haufler, who have been held up by the Mahdists for a number of years.

LONDON, 16th March.

On the suggestion of Mr. George Cotten, a ride was added, illustrating more graphically against the extension of option, information from the North-Western frontier.

LONDON, 17th March.

The meeting was convened at the Royal Exchange, London, 17th March, at 12 m., and the discussion was continued on a bill to prohibit the extension of the Canadian line to New York, the framework remaining Jack the Ripper.
